FARM PRODUCTS PRICES GAINING

FARMER PURCHASING POWER INCREASED AS VALUES SOAR HIGHER

Wheat, Corn, Oats, Rye Increase In Prices; Cattle Market Going Up; Credit Situation Is Improved

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Millions of dollars increase in the purchasing power of the farmer was seen today in the rising trend of agricultural products and the efforts to improve the credit of agriculture.

Favorable developments in the agricultural situation in the last twenty-four hours included:

A jump yesterday of 3 3-4 to 4 1-8 cents per bushel in the price of wheat, an increase of 20 cents a bushel since the leap a few weeks ago.

A rise of 3 3-8 to 4 cents per bushel in corn prices, an advance of more than 12 cents per bushel in the same period.

An upturn of more than six cents per bushel in the price of oats in the same period.

An advance of 14 cents per bushel in the rye prices in the last few weeks.

Incorporation of a $10,000,000 national corn credit corporation at Springfield, Ill., for the purpose of providing loans to corn farmers.

Gains of twenty-five cents in the cattle market and 25 to 50 cents for calves to new high levels.

All these developments favorable to the agricultural sections of the country continued to strengthen the bullish tone in commodity markets, though reactions were expected.

DEATH OF JUROR'S MOTHER POSTPONES NAN BRITTON CASE

Court Delays Charge; Counsel Completes Arguments

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 5.—The sudden death of the mother of Juror Frank Fiedrich, of Toledo, today caused postponement of federal Judge John M. Killitt's charge to the jury hearing the trial of Nan Britton's $50,000 libel suit against C. A. Klunk, of Marion, O., until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Judge Killitt was informed of the woman's death when court convened this morning. He immediately cancelled the morning session of court and ordered the jury to return this afternoon for his charge before taking the case for deliberation.

Admitting newspaper reporters into the courtroom after barring everyone not directly connected with the trial, Judge Killitt held the closing arguments to two hours for each side, and the defense had completed its statements when court was adjourned late yesterday.

In emphatic tones, the attorneys sought to bring out the contentions of their respective cases in the final statements to the jury. Counsel for both the plaintiff and defendant resorted to quotations from the Bible in supporting their points. Former Judge Grant E. Mouser Sr., of Marion, who told the jury that he was a personal friend of the late President Harding and also knew the family of the plaintiff, made part of the defense argument.

He declared that Nan Britton was a woman of two characters, one of which she concealed from her friends. Of "The President's Daughter," which was authored by Miss Britton, he declared "this salacious, lascivious and poisonous book could not be perpetrated in any country except the United States."

Other defense attorneys taking part in the closing arguments were Cray Davis and Donald D. Melhorn, both of whom flayed the character of the plaintiff.

Defending Miss Britton against the allegations of the defense attorneys, William F. Marsteller, chief plaintiff counsel, opposed the contention that Miss Britton objected to the ideals of marriage. He declared his client only was seeking a law by which a father would be as responsible as a mother in the case of a child born out of wedlock.

GIRL SETS NEW PLANE RECORD

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Nov. 5.—Peggy Salaman, 19-year-old London debutante, landed her little monoplane here at 7:35 a. m., today, establishing a new England-cape town flying record of five days, seven and one-half hours. The previous record of six and three-quarter days was held by Captain Glen Kidston, English flier.

ANALYSIS OF WHEAT RECOVERY IS GIVEN BY ABLE ECONOMIST

Surplus Is Depleted; Buying Wave Will Aid All Grades

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Since the wheat market started its sensational climb October 5, when the price was then at its lowest mark in 300 years, economists, and traders, and the general investing public have sought an answer to the question, "why?"

An able economist attached to a brokerage firm of national reputation here sets forth impartial reasons and an analysis for the International News Service. He requested that his name be withheld, for business reasons.

The low mark in 300 years, of October 5 for various options in wheat compared with the close of yesterday shows these changes:

	Yester-	Net
December	44 1/2	64 1/2
March	47 1/2	68 1/2
May	48 1/2	69 1/2
July	49 1/2	70 1/2

Facing these changes to the upswing, professional traders and brokers who have been on the "short" side of the market are now going "long." They have reviewed world production and crop positions and found their surveys favorable to "buy."

The entire world position on wheat reaches into the money the farmer in Iowa, as in Montana will have in his pocket at the end of the year, or to meet his credit. It develops in this manner.

England had to turn to the United States for this reason—

Argentina has poor crops, spoiled by rain, and indications point to less favorable market conditions for this year; Australia is in a normal condition; continental Europe is spotty; Russia, where some doubt exists, is certain however to be on the minus side; central Europe might be termed as favorable—Italy, good, and France fair to good. These conditions apply to moisture as well as crops, based on the judgment of the crop in the ground.

So far as general figures present themselves there are none which would determine an agricultural value. The world supply of wheat is stronger than a year ago, but the 1931 crop falls short about 250,000,000 (250 million) bushels from the previous year the world over. This means the surplus is decreased to this extent.

In this country and in Canada there is an invisible and unknown decrease caused by the feeding of wheat, and what this totals no one knows, in bushels. The United States estimate is about 150,000,000 bushels and this may be too small. Therefore the sales of American grades of wheat could only cause an upswing in prices.

From the speculators' standpoint for instance, Kansas has had four large wheat crops in succession, and the betting would be that she would not have a fifth, due to weather, soil and moisture conditions. It is said Russia has moved out her surplus, and her shipments to date are double a year ago. Argentine quantities are poor, not being standard milling grades. England has been buying Manitobas and hard winters for this reason, and most of this in the past twenty days because of the feared anticipation of a duty on wheat.

Ultimately the question resolves itself thus. That throughout the United States, the buying wave of wheat will cause a rise in all other grains and commodities generally.

The general buying public have been smitten in the stock and bond markets is turning to wheat with a confidence not found since the stock market crash.

MISSIONARY SLAIN IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, Nov. 5.—Chinese bandits in Kiangsi province have killed the Rev. J. W. Vinson, an American missionary whom they captured last Sunday, according to a report received here today.

Vinson, whose home was in Lexington, Va., was the head of a Presbyterian mission at Hailow.

He was captured about thirty miles from the city by a gang of bandits who have inaugurated a reign of terrorism in the province. Kiangsi was formerly regarded as one of the most peaceful sections of China.

A protest against the attack on Vinson previously had been made to the Nanking government by American consular representatives.

COON BITE FATAL

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 5.—The bite of a raccoon several days ago today had resulted in the death of James Waldeck, 17, of Danbury, O. Infection set in from the bite which was inflicted as the youth attempted to capture the animal.

MOTHER AND SON PERISH WHEN TRAPPED BY FIRE WHEN ASLEEP

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—Fire swept a home in south Philadelphia today, causing the death of a mother and her six-year-old son. A family of five next door was driven to the street by the smoke.

The victims Mrs. Mary Selah, 50, and her son, Charles, 6. The woman's husband, Harry Selah, was absent at the time as was Harry Riggins, 23, the dead woman's son by her first husband. Both collapsed when told of the tragedy.

By the time firemen had been called by neighbors the dwelling was a mass of flames. Firemen fought their way into the blazing home and found Mrs. Selah and her son in bed. Apparently they were asleep when the fire broke out and were overcome before they could escape. They were rushed to Mt. Sinai Hospital, but both were beyond aid. They died soon after admittance.

CITY MANAGER OUT

Daniel E. Morgan, prominent Cleveland attorney, steps out as city manager of Cleveland as city votes to return to mayor plan after ten years. The mayor, however, is to be chosen on a non-partisan basis. A nonpartisan primary will be held in January, the two leading candidates to hold a runoff election in February. Cleveland was the largest city with city manager plan. But, defenders say, Cleveland had only a diluted city manager charter, thus permitting politics to enter.

COURT WILL PERMIT DEFENSE TO VISIT MURDER APARTMENT

Counsel Wins Point Over Prosecution In Judd Case

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 5.—Attorneys for Mrs. Ruth Judd, 26, the "blonde tigress," today emerged victorious in a legal skirmish with the prosecution when Superior Judge M. T. Phelps issued an order, permitting the defense to inspect the "murder apartment."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Judd, held without bond in the county jail for trial on charges of killing her friends, Agnes Lerol and Hedwig Samuelson, whose bodies she shipped in two trunks and a suitcase to Los Angeles, was near collapse.

Defense attorneys heatedly charged that Prosecuting Attorney Lloyd Andrews had violated an agreement and had secretly questioned her. The prosecutor denied the charge.

Andrews had refused defense lawyer Herman Lewkowitz permission to visit the apartment in which Mrs. Judd admitted she committed the crime. Lewkowitz obtained from Judge Phelps a court order restraining Andrews from interference.

Andrews immediately challenged Judge Phelps' authority to issue such an order on the ground the judge lacked jurisdiction, and a hearing was ordered today in superior court on Andrews' motion.

DAVID S. INGALLS MAY BECOME CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR HERE

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5.—David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy in charge of aeronautics, may become a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, State Representative Earl Johnson, of Painesville, announced here today.

Johnson, a personal friend of the "flying secretary," stated that he is confident that Ingalls can be persuaded to enter the gubernatorial race.

BLAMES NEPHEW FOR WIFE'S DEATH

PAINESVILLE, O., Nov. 5.—After declaring his nephew, Donald McDonald, proposed, planned and carried through single-handed the murder of Mrs. Nellie Jump, Elmer L. Jump, husband of the dead woman, today again took the stand to testify in his own defense at his first degree murder trial here.

McDonald has confessed stabbing the woman to death and has testified for the state that he was hired by Jump to commit the crime for $175 which he collected.

been talking to him about it, and he had been giving the matter serious consideration," Johnson said. "I believe, because of his interest in the welfare of Ohio, he will consent to become a candidate."

Ingalls served as an aviator in the navy during the war. He was in the legislature two terms and was appointed by President Hoover to his present post. He is the grandson of Charles P. Taft, brother of William Howard Taft, former President of the United States.

PANTAGES GOES ON TRIAL AGAIN

STILL BAR AUTOS

HAMILTON, BERMUDA, Nov. 5.—Bermuda will continue to get along without automobiles.

The assembly today, by a vote of 19 to 7, had turned down a request of Governor Sir John Cubitt that the act of 1928, prohibiting automobiles, be suspended for his benefit.

"I wouldn't even allow the king himself to have a private motor car in Bermuda," one assemblyman said during the debate.

DEMOCRATS FACING TROUBLES AS PARTY CONTROLLING HOUSE

Republicans Can Shift Burden Of Keeping Party Harmony

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The troubles of the Republicans in the house of representatives were turned today, temporarily at least, to the Democrats.

With a plurality of two apparently greasing the way for the Democrats to assume control they faced many of the difficulties which confronted the Republicans in obtaining party harmony.

Saved from the bitterness of a fight over a candidate for speaker through a general agreement on the part of the Republicans, the Democrats were confronted by various hurdles. They are:

Demands from progressives, Republican and Democrat, for a liberalization of rules that will prevent bills from being smothered in committees and virtually upsetting organization control.

Possibility of bitter feeling among northern Democrats because under the seniority rule most of the committee chairmen would go to southern states, six to Texas alone.

Fight for position of floor leadership when Garner vacates the post for the speakership. Several candidates are in the field.

Democratic house leaders believe they can maintain party solidarity with much more ease than the Republicans, although they frankly recognize the growth of a bi-partisan movement for progressive legislation which may not be acceptable to them.

DENIES GUILT

PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 5.—With denials by the defendant from the witness stand that he was responsible for a shortage in the funds of Portsmouth Municipal Court, the trial of William R. Sprague, former judge of the court, drew to a close here today as attorneys for the state and the defense gave their arguments to the jury.

HEAVY CASUALTIES REPORTED IN FIGHT TO REPEL INVADERS

Battle Spreads Nine Miles; Japs Are Outnumbered

COPYRIGHT 1931, BY I. N. S.

MUKDEN, Nov. 5.—The most severe fighting which has occurred during the Japanese campaign in Manchuria was in progress today twenty miles south of Tsitsihar, where 5,000 Chinese soldiers under General Ma Chen-Shan launched a desperate attack upon a Japanese expeditionary force of less than a thousand men.

Reports reaching Japanese military headquarters here indicated that heavy casualties had occurred on both sides, but the exact number of dead and wounded could not be immediately determined.

A communique issued by General Honjo, Japanese commander, said that the battle started at two o'clock in the afternoon and was continuing into the night.

The Japanese detachment was sent into Ma Chen-Shan's province of Heilongjiang to guard engineers making repairs on bridges over the Nonni river, including a railroad bridge. The destruction of which by Chinese had halted traffic between Tsitsihar and South Manchuria.

Defying the Japanese, Ma Chen-Shan, who is accused of receiving aid from Soviet Russia, sent back word that he intended to resist the Japanese with all the forces at his command and proposed to drive them out of Manchuria.

According to the Japanese communique, the Nonni bridge expedition reached the river, and immediately began a survey to determine the extent of the damage.

Ferries were employed to send the Japanese engineers across the river, and there they discovered the main railroad bridge had been extensively damaged, and two other bridges on tributaries of the Nonni river were also impassable.

Continuing northward, the engineers and soldiers encountered a Chinese force, although the Japanese had warned both General Ma Chen-Shan and General Chang Hai-feng, Ma's rival for control of the northern province, to keep at least three miles away from the river.

The Chinese, however, displayed a flag of truce, and the Japanese (Continued on Page Two)

TROOPS SENT INTO COAL STRIKE AREA

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 5.—A National Guard detachment was to proceed to Harlan, Ky., today under an assignment from Governor Sappington to observe conditions in the coal fields and to appear on the scene of coal strikes there in order to maintain the status quo.

The governor announced last night that he would appoint two Kentuckians to conduct an investigation of conditions in the coal fields, to work separately from a group of eastern observers headed by Theodore Dreiser, novelist.

The writer has charged that a "reign of terror" exists in the vicinity of Harlan and was to assemble a committee today at Pineville for the purpose of going to Harlan county tomorrow for an investigation.

APACHE FOILS QUIZ WITH TRANCE

TUSCON, Ariz., Nov. 5.—Goiney Seymour, 21-year Apache Indian charged by the government with killing Henrietta Schermer, 24, Columbia University co-ed, today went into a trance in his cell in the Pima County jail.

The trance is a peculiar custom of the Apaches that is used by them to communicate with the spirits. Since white men gained control of Arizona the Indians have used the trance method to defeat questioners prying into the soul of the red man.

White men were trying to unravel the mystery that surrounded motives for the killing of Miss Schermer. Seymour has confessed he attacked her, and killed her with a knife and stones when she repulsed him while they were en route to a dance on the Fort Apache Indian Reservation last July. Seymour was held without bond for the murder.

MANSFIELD BANK HAS CLOSED DOORS

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—The Richmond Trust Co. of Mansfield was taken over for liquidation today by the state banking department. The bank had a capital stock of $300,000, a surplus of $250,000, and total resources of $1,314,743. It was reported, C. H. Hughes is president of the institution.

main force halted while a small party was sent ahead to talk with the Chinese commander.

As the Japanese advanced, the Chinese began firing, instantly killing one Japanese and wounding several others.

The Japanese immediately deployed and prepared for battle as the Chinese brought up artillery and a force of cavalry.

The scene of the clash was a marshy land, with the Japanese at disadvantage as the Chinese already had their field guns in position on surrounding sand hills.

The Japanese communiques here said the Chinese force numbered at least 5,000 including 500 cavalrymen, and that they were equipped with twenty field pieces and twelve trench mortars.

TOKYO, Nov. 5.—Scores of Japanese soldiers were killed and wounded in the attack by Chinese troops upon a Japanese expeditionary force twenty miles south of Tatsihar today, according to reports received here.

Messengers received by the Japanese military authorities declared an "overwhelming" force of Chinese troops descended upon the Japanese soldiers, who were guarding workers repairing a damaged bridge across the Nonni River.

Preparations were made to rush reinforcements of 500 Japanese reserves from Taonan to the scene of action.

MOSCOW, Nov. 5.—In a bitter editorial on the policy of "the capitalist powers" in the present Manchurian crisis, Pravda, Communist official newspaper organ, declares today a document was submitted to the Japanese cabinet in 1927 by Premier Tanaka, saying: "If we wish to appropriate China we must first crush the United States and must first seize Manchuria and Mongolia."

This document, of which Pravda claims to have information, was regarded as one of the most confidential nature, the Communist organ declares.

NEW CONSTABLE KILLED IN FIGHT

WILMINGTON, O., Nov. 5.—Injuries received in a fight which took place shortly after he had been elected constable of Wilson Twp. today had caused the death of John Shattuck, 50.

The fight climaxed a family dispute between Shattuck and his brother-in-law, Albert Skidmore, 24, it was said. Skidmore was held pending an inquest.

GOING AROUND IN WASHINGTON

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—One afternoon recently while Senator Borah was on his way to his office a friend rushed up to him and with considerable feeling held out a newspaper carrying large headlines announcing that the American observer to the League of Nations had been denied admission to a conference on the Manchurian crisis on the protest of the Japanese delegate.

"What do you think of that, senator," the friend demanded, indignantly. "Seems to me this is pretty high-handed."

Borah read the story through calmly and then smilingly observed: "Japan is our friend. She is trying to save us from the League in spite of ourselves."

Borah is a leader of the irreconcilables who oppose American entrance in the League. He will lead the fight in the senate this winter against American adherence to the World Court.

Senator David I. Walsh, from Massachusetts, has hit upon a novel method of working up interest in public meetings. It is Walsh's view that too often public speakers discuss topics that are not of immediate interest to his hearers. This summer while making a speaking tour of his state Walsh noticed that his audiences responded with keen enjoyment to his invitation to ask questions on public issues. He decided to cut down his own remarks and let the crowd decide what it wanted to hear. The result was that everywhere he was greeted with scores of pertinent questions. At one gathering of businessmen he received more than fifty questions relating to government control of business.

A friend called on him one day at the State Department. He had with him a toy airplane that he had bought as a gift for his little son. Johnson was much interested in the toy and made inquiries as to where it had been purchased. The friend knowing that Johnson was then still a bachelor inquired as to Johnson's interest.

"Well, you see Chinese are very keen about such things," Johnson explained. "I must take a few with me."

Several days later this friend had to buy another one because his son had accidentally broken the first. He went to the top shop to make his purchase.

"I am awfully sorry," the sales girl told him, "Ambassador Johnson was in here yesterday and bought our entire stock of these airplanes. He is taking them as gifts to Chinese friends."

Laffoon was leading Mayor William B. Harrison of Louisville, his Republican opponent by approximately 40,316 votes when 1,111 of the 4,178 precincts in the state had been accounted for.

Smith was first convicted in July, 1930 for aiding Mrs. Maude Lowther, his paramour, to kill his wife. He won a new trial and again was convicted, the appellate court upholding the conviction.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.—Galatians, vi, 1.

THE DEBT OF FRANCE

The Paris newspaper Midi states that its correspondent on the Laval de France obtained from Premier Laval an elucidation of certain clauses in the statement issued in Washington, after the conversations M. Laval had with Mr. Hoover. When the correspondent suggested that the United States had for the first time accepted the eventual reduction of French debts M. Laval replied: "That is not a bad translation of the communiqué."

If he is correctly quoted M. Laval seems to take more for granted than the public in this country is aware of. Although he talked around the subject in his first address in New York, there is nothing in the communiqué on his talks with Mr. Hoover that indicates that it was brought up in Washington. If it was to secure, among other things, a reduction in France's war debt to the United States that M. Laval journeyed to this country, at least that part of his mission does not appear in the records as successful.

The question of how much France shall pay the United States is not for Mr. Hoover to settle anyway. Congress has the last say in that matter. At the moment there does not seem to be any justification for expecting Congress to reduce the French debt. The amount France eventually was induced to agree to repay this country was equivalent only to what she had borrowed after the war. What she obtained during the war was in fact written off the books. She got off for about fifty cents on the dollar, whereas Great Britain received no such compassionate treatment. As the richest country in Europe she has the capacity to pay. As the strongest opponent of disarmament in Europe she should be required to pay her creditors.

BRIGHTER OUTLOOK

An Associated Press survey of business conditions throughout the country discloses many encouraging signs. The industrial situation is still spotty; but in numerous lines greater activity is revealed than was evident a year ago, agriculture is enjoying an enhancement of crop prices, and pessimism is giving way to an optimism based on revived confidence in the financial stability of the nation. Among the brightest spots revealed by the survey is New England, whose diversified industries appear to be lifting it steadily out of depression. The South is benefiting from the improved cotton situation and the thawing out of bank assets. Oil has been bayoneted to a higher price level. Wheat has gained 40 cents a bushel in the past month and prophets in the pit can see "dollar wheat" around the corner. The recent increases in wheat, corn, oats and rye prices have added approximately $300,000,000 to the value of American crops.

A general industrial resurgence, which would operate equally along the whole line, was not to be expected. The enlarged buying power of the farmers and the payrolls in the first industries to pick up, when translated into purchases, will bring other industries back to work. The restoration of normal conditions throughout the country will be progressive.

Although the Associated Press survey does not invite excessive optimism regarding the immediate present, it does reveal a temper that promises better things from now on. Gradually the country is getting over the shock of depression and accepting the situation as something to be fought out of, as similar periods of business recession have been in the past. Agriculture is profiting from a renewal of European orders. The effect of the credit mobilization engineered by Mr. Hoover is observed in the increasing confidence of the public in the banking system and the decreasing resort to hoarding. As a result of this liberation of money, a steady lift toward normal business no longer appears to be something remotely to be hoped for; it is on its way.

LOOKING AHEAD

The success with which astronomers have hitherto been able to deduce the existence and calculate the orbits and positions of unknown planets should make the world more than slow about questioning off hand the accuracy of the prediction of Dr. William H. Pickering that a "new" and relatively large member of the Solar system eventually will be found, or his statement that it is traveling in an estimated orbit far beyond that of the recently discovered Planet X or Pluto.

Neptune was discovered back in 1846 as a result of mathematical calculations based on some irregularities in the conduct of the planet Uranus. At the time there were suggestions that a part of the perturbations of Uranus were caused by still another body hidden beyond Neptune, and a hunt for the mysterious stranger began in earnest in 1877. But it was not until last year that the skulker was run down, exposed, measured and named. Incidentally Dr. Pickering was one of the scientists who were in on the finish.

Now the doctor repeats history by asserting that just as Neptune failed to account for all the diodes of Uranus, so Neptune and Pluto together, lack sufficient pull to explain all the halts and wobbles that body is indulging in. Indeed Neptune and Pluto are too far away for the doctor to be guilty at all.

Dr. Pickering accordingly calculates a globe pursuing an elliptical course which sometimes takes it within five billion miles of the sun and sometimes allows it to recede as far as nine billion miles from the sun, and he estimates that its diameter is about 44,000 miles, which would make it the third of all the planets in size.

But even though the doctor may be right, it does not follow that the far distant traveler is going to be located and recognized all at once. The movement of a world so far from the center of things is necessarily slow. Its light is likely to be dim. And altogether the task of picking it out from a background of fixed stars must be extremely delicate.

We believe in advertising. We believe in charity. But we do not believe in the exploitation of charity for commercial purposes. An attempt to capitalize misery in order to promote trade, seems to us only a little less than ghoulish. People should beware of such efforts.

With wheat going up, some western farmers are going to look regretfully at ash heaps which remind them of premature bonfires kindled in moments of disappointment and wrath.

The Empress Eugenie hat seems to have been too simple and elegant for this age.

The members of the new Congress would help economy if right at the start they should vote a 10 per cent cut in their own salaries. Watch them do it!

Happy Germany, it will have no legislature in session for more than a year, and no new laws.

A political landslide has one big drawback. It is likely to create congestion at the bottom of the hill.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

Grapefruit, three for 11 cents. A shop of strange spices and condiments; puma seed, dried mushrooms Italiano, cinnamon by the ounce, aromatic barks from trees on the other side of the world.

Here, indeed, is the real New York. Here the milling mob lacks the pallor, the night-eyes to be seen along Broadway. Here even the bum seems to be having a good time—what with morsels of fruit to be filched from unwary shopkeepers and one thing and another.

HOP, SKIP AND JUMP

Herald Square at 5:30 in the afternoon of a business day—the noisiest, most traffic-tangled and pedestrian-choked post on earth. Fifth avenue at 6 o'clock Sunday morning—an endless perspective of gray serenity, while even the pigeons still sleep. Incidentally, advertisers believe there is a "margin of congestion" which applies to busy corners—that, in other words, signs and displays lose their efficacy when the street is so mobbed people don't have the time or the inclination to gaze.

There is a plastic surgery free clinic for New York's poor, where vital loss of looks is remedied. The 250 lights which spray Statue of Liberty cost $500 a month to keep going. Eagle feathers are sold in the Syrian quarter at almost every shop. W. B. Seabrook, author of "The Magic Island," will live for months as a day laborer in Europe, gathering material for a new book on miracles and shrines.

In Central park the arrows near the reservoir mean: white arrows lead you to a two-hour walk; blue, 45 minutes; red, half an hour, and yellow, 20 minutes. Window-washers for high buildings get a better life insurance break than the executives sitting at desks inside; the record non-fatal fall for one of them was 11 stories, to land in a sand pile.

Rudy Vallee and Claudette Colbert lived in the same Manhattan apartment house for months, but did not meet until they worked on the same picture. A flourishing business consists in supplying veritable birds' nests for use as movie props; one of the big concerns has a supply of habitats for orioles, wrens, woodcocks, thrush, meadow larks, scarlet tanagers, red warblers, long-tailed tits, wagtails and weaver birds—yet production was held up two weeks on a recent picture because robins do not nest in California and it was necessary to send to the middle west.

SEASCAPE

Off the battery—four barges moving slowly toward the Hudson, each flying a red flag. Which means that the cargo aboard is dynamite. Boats carrying explosives have little difficulty getting through traffic, and the ferries steer high and wide around them.

JUST FOR FUN

The other night I was witnessing the rehearsal of a new musical show. The producer, one of the most dignified young men in New York, sat in the center of the empty theater while the cast went through their lines. They were good lines. It was a good show. But throughout the rehearsal the producer kept the air hideous with a series of hoots, catcalls, hisses and Bronx cheers.

1931 HARVEST MOON

TALK OF MRS. LONGWORTH AS CURTIS' SUCCESSOR RAISES FEMINIST ISSUE

WASHINGTON. — Congressman William Williamson of South Dakota does not pretend to know exactly how many seconds he has received to his recent nomination of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth as the G. O. P.'s vice presidential candidate in 1932, should Charles Curtis decide against seeking another term, but he says the number certainly runs into four figures.

Ever since he made the suggestion the Dakota's telephone has been ringing almost constantly, bringing him congratulations on it. Many more endorsements of it have reached him by mail and a few by telegraph.

"Well," recalls the congressman, "South Dakota, at its 1929 Republican convention, was the first state to propose Calvin Coolidge for the vice presidency. Whether or not that signifies anything as to Mrs. Longworth in 1932 is a question concerning which I leave politicians to draw their own conclusions."

What the late speaker's widow would think of the idea is another problem which as yet no one appears to be in a position to answer. Accounts from Cincinnati agree that she very readily could have been named for the first Ohio congressional district's seat in the seat in the house of representatives following her husband's death, but would not even consider accepting the candidacy. Her name likewise has been mentioned in connection with next year's nomination in opposition to Senator Robert J. Bulkley, but with very little thought that she really can be persuaded to make the run.

However, there are hopeful folk in the capital who surmise that the vice presidency, if offered, might be a sufficient prize to tempt her.

For the enlightenment of those to whom it may seem that Mrs. Longworth herself should be the best authority for the subject, it perhaps is necessary to explain that royalty is accessible in comparison with her.

Speaker Longworth was the most approachable of individuals; his wife one of the least so.

Undoubtedly a brilliant politician, her influence always has been exercised from behind the scenes.

Shiny Green Peppers
Photographs of Eggsplants
Beauty in Everything

By MARSHALL MASLIN
I know a man who finds beauty almost everywhere.

He takes photographs of old tin cans, piles of sewer pipes, shiny green peppers, abalone shells, worn rocks, almost anything that meets his eye. Even of eggplants.

He walks up to them, doesn't disturb them, takes a picture of them in their natural poses, in just the right angle—and gives you BEAUTY you didn't know was there.

I've seen a photograph he made of a streamer of kelp on a shiny beach in the twilight, and it was mysteriously, snakily, lovely..... I hardly know why, but I know it was..... I'd walk that way and see that kelp and pick it up and "pop" the little pear-shaped fruit of the kelp and swing it round my head and toss it out to the waves and wash my hands and forget all about it. He comes along and sees a beauty that was lost to me—and makes a picture of it.

Then I can see it as plain as anything. But HE had to show it to me. I'm looking for the big bursts of beauty that anyone can see; I'm looking for a stick to throw for a dog to chase; I miss a lot. But he's looking for beauty everywhere; he can find it in a great tree, in a gorgeous sunset, but he can find it, too, in all the little neglected places. He finds it in sticks and in stones, in humble faces, in tortured ones. Most of us recognize the obvious beauty of regular noses and well-shaped things; this man sees the beauty of character in the faces that we would dismiss as commonplace.

He's right. We are wrong. We live on little. He lives on much. His income is inexhaustible and tax-free and forever secure.

His secret is in seeing all things, all people, from the Right Angle. He knows that if he sets his camera at one point he will find only a pumble of lines and curves, no beauty. If he set it at the Right Angle, he will make a picture that anyone can see is lovely. He can look at people and see meanness and furtiveness and cowardice and cruelty. He can look at them from another angle and see patience and kindness. He can find ugliness and let it go, he can find beauty and make it immortal.

Who wouldn't envy such a man and wish to be like him?

occupied, positions at the head of great governments.

"Still, it is to be borne in mind that not in at least a century has the woman occupant of any throne wielded an authority equal to the president's."

"There have been great queens in the past, undeniably. Queen Elizabeth, for example. Yet it must be admitted that her personality was an outstanding one as a monarch, king or queen, in all history."

"Even now, as to a woman for the vice presidency, or the presidency, I agree, it should depend on the woman."

Menu Hints
Fresh Ham Pot Roasted
Riced Potatoes
Creamed Cauliflower
Apple-Celery Salad

Doughnuts Coffee
Do you ever pot roast fresh pork? It's delicious. There is usually enough fat on the meat to grease all sides, then brown an onion lightly in the same fat. Salt and pepper, and add a little dried sage, if you like the flavor. Add a little water to the meat and cook slowly as you would a beef pot roast until the meat is tender, allowing fully half an hour or more to each pound of meat.

Today's Recipes
Doughnuts—Beat two eggs light, add one cup sugar and continue beating, then add a tablespoon of melted butter or other fat, next a cup of milk, a teaspoon of vanilla and enough flour to make a soft dough stiffed with a tablespoon of baking powder and half a teaspoon of salt. Fry in hot fat. When cold frost with the following orange frosting.

Orange Frosting—One teaspoon grated orange rind, three tablespoons orange juice, one teaspoon lemon juice, one beaten egg yolk, sifted powdered sugar. Mix ingredients, using enough powdered sugar to give spreading consistency. This icing may also be used to frost cakes and cookies.

Suggestions
Christmas Suggestions
It is not too soon to think of Christmas presents. Small lamps, a piece of pottery, a new kitchen gadget, a tea set, a decorative tray—all these are being shown in the shops and are most attractive. If one purchases a single gift each week there won't be such a strain on the family purse later.

Keep on Hand
A jar of mayonnaise in the refrigerator gives you a feeling of comfort, because a salad can be prepared quickly when a salad dressing is handy.

Effective Centerpiece
A centerpiece designed for a long table, set for twelve guests, was made by first removing hooks and wire from back of a 35 by 25-inch mirror, then placing it lengthwise of table covered with white linen cloth. Around mirror and well over flat frame was strewn paper grass, and out of the green sprang small white daisies. On the surface of lake (mirror) were placed two rubber water lilies and several swans.

With blinds drawn, candles and lamps lighted, the reflection will be quite natural and effective.

Cathartics Most Liked

By LOGAN CLENDENIN, M. D.

Undoubtedly the case for the usefulness of drugs is strengthened by cathartics. They work. It is easy to prove or disprove that they have an effect on the body—that they do what it is said they will do.

It would probably stagger a statistician if the actual amount of these drugs that are consumed in a year were accurately determined. It would have to be measured in tons instead of pounds. They are the most popular, or at least the most used, of all drugs.

And there are plenty of them. I find in a conservative book on the action of drugs, 138 mentioned by name, with their dosages. You can take them by mouth, by hypodermic, in other ways; in drops, in powders, in salts, in liquid, in pill, in capsule form. You can even snuff them up your nose.

So it will be difficult to describe all of them in a short article. We will take three classes.

For chronic use, probably for most people, the best are those which have no violent action, but act simply by adding bulk to the food mass. The group includes mineral oil, petrolatum (the same thing which is sold under another name) agar, petrolagar (a combination of petrolatum and agar). Finally there is bran. Bran, when thoroughly cooked, is good, but for many people is entirely too irritating. Otherwise, none of these substances does any harm, and if they give satisfactory results should be the first choice.

The second sort of cathartic is that needed for a single evacuation. Which is chosen depends on circumstances. Salts, whether taken straight or in effervescent form, act thoroughly in about two hours. Thus they are designed to be used before breakfast and be effective before noon. They clear out mucous in the stomach and the results of liver stasis, as well as the sluggish intestine. Aloes and cascara, usually put up in pill form, act in about eight hours, so should be taken at night on going to bed, with the expectation that they will act in the morning before breakfast. They tend to form a habit, in the sense that it takes more and more of them to be effective as time goes on.

Certain of these drugs have valuable uses in special circumstances. For instance, for children or insane or delirious people it is difficult to get them to swallow a mixture of disagreeable taste or nauseating effect. So a cathartic in candy form is useful. The drug phenolphthalein adapts itself to this sort of combination very readily. It is also very effective. It is found in many proprietary remedies in candy form. It is even incorporated into a brand of cathartic chewing gum.

Lastly, one should mention the grand old standby, castor oil—the patriarch of all cathartics. In the oldest of all medical books written on the banks of the Nile when Moses was a boy and Homer had never struck his blooming lyre, is a prescription for castor oil in beer. It did its work on Pharaoh and there is no reason to suppose it won't be good for you, too.

Square Deal Needed

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Miss Lee: Your quoted letter from the 'philandering husband,' Jerry, intrigued my interest to such an extent that I am compelled to write you of the impression it made on me.

"First, I would have you know that I was born in the 'old west' and brought up, as a boy, among the hard, rough men of a 'cattle town,' which was as wide open as any of this time. Needless to say, the field within my observation was anything but what would make a man sensitive to wrong.

"But back there, in spite of its vice, disregard of law and morals, and quick but unquestioned justice, there was a simple and undoubted conviction of the difference between right and wrong.

"Its basis was this: Men were divided into just two groups, those who did the square thing and those who didn't. The latter didn't last long. Once definitely identified they were hung upon the nearest tree.

"Minor qualifications in a man's character, such as drinking, gambling, running with women, shooting to kill, and so on, were held to be unimportant so far as the main issue was concerned. A man was praised or condemned solely upon the point of whether or not he was square.

"Women were grouped in a similar way. A 'good woman' was one who was square with her husband. The 'bad women' were not.

"Now it appears to me, as I observe our present day ways, and compare them with those of my youth, that some men lack the discernment needed to recognize that the difference between right and wrong is not so much that of conforming to certain rules of conduct as it is in knowing or caring whether or not a square deal is being given.

"Take the case of 'Jerry' in the letter mentioned. He is overflowing with self-pity, even though admitting his wrong-doing. But you find no expression of fairness to either his good wife or to the 'pretty and neat little ladies' that so frequently fall for his attractive wiles. To my way of thinking there is something very lacking in his character.

"Leaving aside all of the so-called 'moral' angles, no man, after giving his word in marriage vows, has any right to pursue a line of behavior that does not give his mate a square deal.

"In my opinion, such fellows as 'Jerry' are on the other side from those that are 'square.' And I believe that only in going square can they find any lasting reform. Fortunately for them it is that they do not live back in the old days of the frontier with its quick justice.

"This is a good deal of a sermon from an old fellow who has 'seen the elephant' from every angle. But it does seem to me that there is altogether too much of this 'getting by' with behavior of the sort 'Jerry' deplores, and that the solution is too much obscured by moral cant.

"As for 'Jerry's' claim that after each affair he loves his wife more, well, it just doesn't go down. That is impossible. No man can really love his wife and not be square with her in the way that I mean.

"Wild Bill."

Needless to say I agree with you and thank you for your fine letter. Mr. "Wild Bill." At the same time I was a little skeptical of Jerry's letter. It sounded to me a "little too good to be true." If you know what I mean. However, there are plenty of "Jerrys" in the world, I am afraid, and your little sermon and mine may do a little good. We'll hope so, anyway.

Gloria C.: You are worshipping an ideal, Gloria, my dear. The man you have loved for these ten years might be a great disappointment to you if you really had a chance to know him. However, the world is small, and it may be that you will meet him again, and if you do, I hope he will prove all you think and that he will reciprocate your feelings. I wouldn't wait for him however, if I were you.

VERY MUCH PRESENT

Pa and Ma sat thoughtfully before the open fireplace and listened to the roaring exhaust of their son's new sport roadster as he backed it out of the garage and highballed down the street for—well, another night out.

"Ah, me," sighed Ma, "youth to day lives entirely in the present."

"You're dead right," Pa rejoined, cynically, "especially when the present happens to be a fast car."

Requested To Diagnose A Blemish

By GLADYS GLAD

"DEAR MISS GLAD: My skin has always been fairly clear and smooth, and I've never had much trouble with it. Lately, however, I've noticed that the skin on my cheeks is dotted with tiny blemishes, and I was wondering whether they could have been caused by the brand of rouge that I am using. Do you think so?"

"PATTY ANN."

If you are using a good brand of rouge, a product that is nationally recognized as a pure, reliable one, I do not believe that it would cause the skin condition you describe. You may, however, be using the rouge incorrectly, and thus causing this skin condition. The blemishes on your cheeks indicate that you have been grinding the rouge into your skin, and then failing to remove it properly.

A good brand of rouge will not harm your skin, providing that you cleanse your skin thoroughly after its use. Be sure that you close your pores effectively with a good astringent before you apply any of the rouge. And use a fine cleansing cream, and then soap and water to remove every bit of it from your skin afterwards.

"Dear Miss Glad: I want to tell you how highly I think of the advice contained in your 'Beauty Culture' booklet. Through it I have not only cleared my scalp of dandruff, but also have succeeded in thickening my hair to a very noticeable extent. However, my sister wishes to give her hair several of your hot oil shampoos to promote its growth. But as her hair is rather oily, she's not sure that this would be advisable. What is your opinion in the matter?"

"MISS D. K."

It is my opinion that almost every type of hair can be subjected to hot oil shampoos with the utmost profit. These shampoos are of course, particularly beneficial for dry, brittle hair. But even oily hair will be benefited by the application of the oil or a light greasing previous to a soap and water shampoo. For the lubricant will soften all dust and grime on the scalp, will penetrate deep into the pores, and will loosen all impurities of dirt. In fact, in some cases hot oil shampoos have even been successful in normalizing and functioning of the oil glands, and correcting the excessively oily condition of the hair entirely.

"Dear Miss Glad: Despite the fact that it is so very popular at the present time, I do not like to use the dry powder polish to make my nails lustrous. I was wondering, however, if I couldn't make this polish myself. Have you any formula for such a preparation?"

"MRS. VAN D."

The dry powder polish is most effective for giving the finger nails a natural gloss and lustre. And although there are many good polishes of this type on the market at present, you may make your own if you so desire. Take a specific quantity of talc, and mix it with an equal amount of tin oxide. Then add a little carmine to these two substances, in order to give the polish color, and blend the three ingredients thoroughly.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS FRAMED by Phil

If you want to get the St. Louis Cards all agitated just make the statement they won the 1931 flag by "just picking on those enfeebled Reds." They retort that "it's all true we won twenty out of twenty-two games from those Cincinnati guys, but don't forget that we took the measure of every other club in the circuit too." The "worst" showing by St. Louis was when it took only twelve out of twenty-two from the Giants, Dodgers and Pirates.

Looking ahead to the 1932 baseball season for no reason at all, plenty of laughs are in store for the National League, what with it housing "Dizzy" Dean and Art Shires, rightly dubbed the loudest of loud speakers.

Can't you picture this situation: Shires, up at the disc, scowling at Dean and making coy and cunning remarks—and Dean responding, likewise, if Shires hits safely imagine what he'll say to Dean, or what Dean will say if he whiffs Shires. Here are the pre-season statements for both parties:

"With me pitching for them Cards in 1932 we ought to win about 115 games—maybe 120."

As to Shires. Well, as soon as he was purchased by the Bostonians he sent a telegram to the press thereof in which he wrote, in part:

"You certainly are to be congratulated in getting me for your ball club."

Here is another comical situation involving the egotistical Arthur (The Great) Shires:

Shires, when he reports next year to be the Boston Braves, who purchased his contract recently, will be the teammate of the man he defeated in the ring. While displaying his pugilistic proclivities at Boston some time ago, Shires knocked out Al Spohrer, Braves catcher, who had likewise turned to the ring. By virtue of the new trade Arthur and Al will be buddies (7) on the same club.

Quite a delegation from Xenia will be on hand at the Southern California-Notre Dame football game in South Bend, Ind., November 21. That is, at least fourteen and probably more Xenians will view the contest if they can get tickets. The Xenia representatives will include Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Koster, Coach "Pinkie" Wilson, Prosecutor Marcus McCallister, Attorney Marcus Shoup, Walter Neville, Francis Lucas, Fred Graham and son, Bill, Bill LeSourd, Phil Corr, Paul Snider, Tom Hollen-camp and perhaps this department.

G. J. GRAHAM GETS BURNED BY BLAST

G. J. Graham, 133 W. Church St., former superintendent of city schools, received painful, but not serious, burns on his face and right arm when a gas furnace he was attempting to light, exploded Wednesday morning.

The fire in the furnace had gone out and Mr. Graham, thinking the gas had had time to escape, attempted to re-light it. The furnace was blown into small bits but no other damage resulted to the Graham home. He was improving from his burns Thursday.

PROGRESSIVES APPROVE VICTORY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Senate progressives discussed with manifest approval today, Governor Roosevelt's impressive victory in Tuesday's balloting over Alfred E. Smith.

Without exception the group was of the opinion the election result would materially strengthen the New Yorker's strength nationally, and three of them, speaking "off the record," expressed the hope he would receive the Democratic presidential nomination.

EAST HIGH GRIDDERS WILL PLAY GLENDALE HIGH ON SATURDAY

Undefeated and unscored on during the last two grid seasons, East High School's fast-stepping football eleven will strive to keep its goal line uncrossed when it clashes with a strong Wilberforce Academy team at Wilberforce Saturday afternoon.

Under the guiding hand of Coach Everett Roberts, the East High eleven won every game played in 1930 and was not scored upon. The present team has so far preserved the record of its immediate predecessor.

East has booked a return game here with Glendale High for November 17, having beaten this school, 8 to 0, last week. The East grid squad includes McCormick, Hall, Transue and Adams at ends, Rice, Ervin and Swanson at tackles, Riley, Lewis, Anderson and Hardin at guards, Stanhope and Jackson at center, Johnson, Williamson, Hargrave, Crowley, R. Shoecraft, J. Shoecraft, Garrett and Ewing in the backfield.

Unmindful of the lack of adequate football equipment and a good field on which to practice, the team has been improving rapidly with every game.

Optimism over prospects for success of the fourth annual Community Fund campaign to be conducted in Xenia November 17-24, was expressed at a "pep" meeting of nearly forty regional chest chairmen and interested business men at the Elk's Club Wednesday night.

With appointment of regional chairmen for each of the twenty-eight small districts into which the city has been divided for the forthcoming drive, the primary purpose of Wednesday night's meeting was to give the chairmen their preliminary instructions.

The principal "sales talk" of chest talk" of chest workers while canvassing the city in quest of solicitations will embrace the importance of giving more generously than ever to the fund because of the greater need of participating agencies to successfully combat unemployment and general distress this winter.

In a fairly less important, chest leaders point out, is the necessity for workers to solicit every store in the business district and every house in residential sections. Every prospect must be interviewed during the week's campaign. It is emphasized that no one is to be overlooked.

Division of the city into small districts will simplify the task facing those who will conduct the drive. Each worker will be assigned to one block and four workers will be under the supervision of every regional chairman.

One departure from preceding drives is the fact campaign pledge cards are to be furnished every employer in the business section of the city, and employers will in turn collect contributions from their own employees. Formerly the chest solicitors were charged with the responsibility of interviewing employees of business firms but the newly adopted plan has many advantages over the old system, it is agreed.

Another innovation in connection with the 1931 campaign, according to present plans, will be luncheon meetings of chest leaders and regional chairmen each day of the drive. The proposed noon luncheons, a feature of similar drives in virtually all other cities, serve to keep enthusiasm alive, enable the chest organization to keep in constant touch with fund workers and ascertain what progress he drive is making. Chairman will make daily reports. There will be no expense attached to these luncheons insofar as the chest is concerned because those attending will pay for their own meals.

DR. SCHICK JOINS HOSPITAL STAFF

Dr. H. C. SCHICK, formerly of Cedarville, started upon his duties this week as a member of the McClellan Hospital staff. He has just returned from New York where he took a course specializing in obstetrics at the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital. He will specialize in this work here in addition to his general hospital practice.

Dr. Schick formerly practiced in Cedarville but his practice there was taken over by Dr. Harold Ray at the time he went to New York. Dr. and Mrs. Schick and daughter will move into the Zell Apt. W. Market St., within a few days.

WILBERFORCE GRID TEAM OFF THURSDAY FOR LANGSTON TILT

Hopeful of preserving their unbeaten status in the ranks of colored college football, the Wilberforce University football squad embarked Thursday morning for Langston, Okla., where the Colored Agricultural and Normal University will be met in an inter-sectional game Saturday afternoon.

Three years ago, in 1928, Wilberforce also traveled all the way to Oklahoma to play the Langston university eleven and returned with a 5 to 0 victory as a reward for the long trip.

Victor in four straight games this season and with their goal line crossed but twice, the Bulldogs are optimistic over the prospect of extending their claim to national recognition with a triumph over the far western team.

Returning from the Oklahoma journey, Wilberforce gridders face the prospect of another long hike down to Bluefield, Va. for an inter-sectional clash with their traditional foe, Bluefield Institute, on Saturday next week.

OFFICIAL COUNT OF BALLOTS DOES NOT CHANGE STANDING

Tabulation of the official count of votes cast in Xenia city and township at Tuesday's election, completed Thursday by the board of elections, failed to produce any changes from the winning candidates as disclosed by the unofficial tally.

The only close contest developed in the race for Xenia Twp. board of trustees. The unofficial count had indicated the election of C. S. McDaniel over Graham Bryson, incumbent, by a margin of two votes. The official count did not change this margin, McDaniel winning officially with 942 votes as compared with 940 for Bryson, the same as their unofficial totals.

Announcement was made by Earl Short, clerk of the election board, that a grand total of 8,728 votes were cast throughout the county. Here is the official vote summary:

THEATER ROBBED; POLICE SEEK THREE

NEWARK, O., Nov. 5.—Believing they had been hoodwinked, local authorities today pressed a search for three men in connection with the robbery of Mrs. Catherine Sawyer, theatre ticket seller, and the kidnapping of her husband, Russell. The bandits, police believe, are the same three men whom they questioned yesterday afternoon and whom they released when the men convinced them of their good character.

Last night the robbers raided the ticket office at the theater and took $250 from her. After taking her husband for "a ride" for a short distance, they forced him from the car.

"SINGING IN THE BATH"
CHICAGO—Dignitaries of the opera sing in the bath tub just like ordinary citizens. It was disclosed here by Mrs. Emil Cooper, wife of a principal conductor of the Chicago Civic Opera company. "Yes, indeed," she said, "Emil sings lustily while in his bath. Moreover, when he's shaving he fairly belloves. I often wonder why he doesn't cut himself."

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Wednesday's closing spurt was carried into the early trading on the big board today and higher prices were quoted for the favorites in all sections of the list. A further boost in wheat and corn, with silver at a new high for the year, above 32 cents an ounce and a better tone in the automobile outlook were the principal factors in the financial markets. Foreign and domestic government and railroad bonds also moved into higher price levels.

MAUDE ADAMS' RETURN TO STAGE

This photograph of Maude Adams' return to the stage was made by Central Press under extraordinary circumstances. No photo of Maude Adams had been made in years and permission to take one was refused. A cameraman there obtained this one from behind the curtain of a box, the opening night in Cleveland. Maude Adams is in the center, playing the part of Portia in the courtroom of "The Merchant of Venice," bathed in remarkable stage light, which has the quality of sunlight, and which she developed through the thirteen years of her retirement. At the left is Otis Skinner as Shylock, and Jerome Lawler as Bassanio, the lover.

Famous Actress Is Back Again Capturing Hearts

(This story of Maude Adams' return to the stage was written for Central Press by one who saw her in her greatest parts in the past.) CLEVELAND, Nov. 5.—To tens of thousands the news is flashed that Maude Adams, for many years America's foremost actress, has returned to the stage following thirteen years' retirement.

And thousands inquire, perhaps hesitatingly, "Is she still the Maude Adams we knew?"

This writer had seen her in the majority of her productions in past years. And now he is present upon her return to the stage in "The Merchant of Venice" in Cleveland.

Yes, she still is the Maude Adams we knew.

Wistful, Quiet She still has the charm, the wistfulness, the quiet sense of humor, the sparkle in her eyes that seems to say: "Men are merely children." But all that—we who were born in the 80's and 90's may as well admit—belongs to a period that is gone. Our mannerisms are changed. We have become a sterner race. In Maude Adams we see ourselves as we were, and that is not without its charm.

Never, except for the annual grand opera, has Cleveland had such a brilliant opening. And Cleveland has many openings. Even photographers appeared in evening dress. And never in Cleveland, perhaps few times in the whole United States, have there been so many curtain calls. And from this brilliant audience came cries of "Bravo!"—a rare thing in an American theater.

Thus, in spite of nervousness parts of women in his day. Thus, when the wistful Maude Adams enters in the glow of those remarkable stage lights which she herself has perfected to emulate the natural glow of the sun through windows, the play becomes a gentler instrument.

"The quality of mercy is not strain'd" becomes a gentle plea—a plea that betokens a final victory. It becomes the plea of the gentle heroine of "What Every Woman Knows," the plea of "Peter Pan" for her enchanted audience to clap to keep the fairies alive.

Should it be sterner? Truly, it is interesting. Still, one thinks of Shakespeare's words as sterner stuff.

Otis Skinner's Shylock is the greatest I have seen. We who have "recited" the Bard of Avon's immortal lines in school should heed the drama and the majesty, the passion and the despair that Skinner reads, as a suffering, revengeful man.

But beyond Maude Adams and Otis Skinner, beyond the new lighting she has so patiently conceived, beyond the beauty of the production, stands the play itself. Shakespeare's works remain the mountains. They stand out all the more in contrast to the valleys of our own feeble efforts.

Since Maude Adams and Otis Skinner will tour the cities they used to tour, prior to entering New York, thousands will see it—and perhaps in each city the welcome will be as enthusiastic as in Cleveland.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

VOTERS EXHAUSTED BALLOTS TUESDAY

Fresh supplies of ballots had to be printed hurriedly Tuesday afternoon and rushed to polling places in Yellow Springs, Miami, Bellbrook, Sugarcreek and Ross Twp., where voters turned out in far greater numbers than had been expected on election day.

Ballot supplies thought sufficient for the needs of these communities were exhausted and precinct officials had to send hurry calls for additional supplies.

The vote registered in Yellow Springs village and Miami Twp. was such a record-breaker that one additional batch of ballots proved inadequate and new supplies had to be sent twice to this locality before the polls closed. There the vote cast was about 300 more than normal.

Princeton Frosh Like Rich Girls Who "Neck"

Composite of Preferred Feminine Charmers Represents Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich and Joan Crawford.

COMPOSITE OF THREE STARS

According to answers received to the annual questionnaire submitted to freshmen at Princeton University, the average first-year man would rather be the possessor of a Phi Beta Kappa than a varsity letter for sports. For his ideal girl, the freshman requires brains, beauty, personality, a sense of humor and lots of money. The ability to neck (verb) and a close resemblance to Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich and Joan Crawford are also named as necessities. Top left picture shows what a composite of the three film queens mentioned would look like. Cartoon at bottom shows the freshman in his element, but looking none too happy.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 5.—To those of us who have hitherto harbored the belief that young America goes to college merely to play football, wear raccoon-skin coats, tote hip flasks, play saxophones, and die for dear old whoozis, the result of the annual questionnaire at Princeton will come as a distinct surprise. For the thirst for knowledge is given as the main reason for the steady trek college-wards.

Replies to the questionnaire also prove that a Phi Beta Kappa key means more to the average Princeton freshman than a varsity letter gained for prowess in the field of sports. In fact, there is this year a great dearth of freshmen who are willing to declare a resolve to die for dear old whoozis.

But maybe the very fact that they are freshmen accounts for the remarkable lack of the traditional college spirit, or Alma Mater mania, and by the time they enter their sophomore year they may have become imbued with the usual campus hysteria that passes for esprit de corps in our big institutes of learning.

By far the most illuminating portion of the answers to the questionnaire was the freshman's conception of his ideal girl—don't forget that freshman is one word—for it provides a qualitative analysis of the type of soil wherein the seed of education is to be planted and, if you are psychologist enough will enable you to forecast of the crop that will ensue from the planting.

For his ideal girl, the Princeton freshman requires brains, beauty, personality, sense of humor, dancing ability and money, with a high-priced car thrown in. The ability to "neck" (verb) and a close resemblance to Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich and Joan Crawford, as well as the possession of a soft voice, were named necessities.

One wonders why Mr. Freshman demands both brains and money; for it is hardly necessary to point out that the fortunate young lady who possesses those attractions will use the gray matter in retaining the lucre against the blandishments of those who would charm it away from her. The sense of humor can be readily understood as it is most annoying to have taken a girl out for a moonlight auto ride if she is unable to see the joke when you run out of gas sixty miles from home with no way of getting back.

Then there is the ability to "neck." Mr. Freshman's grandfather probably imagined, in his old-fashioned unsophistication, that "necking" was merely the ritual to which claims were subjected before they became chowder, but the world has progressed and it is now considered comme il faut in the higher intellectual circles to demonstrate an amorous impulse regardless of time or place.

The demand for beauty also implies that the ideal girl must have more than a speck of Spartan fortitude in her make-up, present day beauty being largely synthetic and gives a good insight into his aesthetic taste. Imagine having one's breakfast eggs and bacon on the opposite side of the table from a wonderful creature possessing the languorous eyes of Greta Garbo, set in the features of Joan Crawford supported by the lovely contents of Marlene Dietrich's stockings.

But it is in making a soft voice one of the qualifications that the collegian excels himself; for he knows that it is asking too much to demand a girl that won't talk at all, so he asks the next best thing—one that he won't be able to hear.

GREENE COUNTY NOT PLACED IN CONTEST

Because of the low average of its contestants Greene County was not represented in the Ohio corn husking contest sponsored by the Ohio Farmer near Tippicanoe City Wednesday. Twenty per cent of the entrants having the highest average competed in the state contest.

Francis Pittstick, R. F. D. 2, Yellow Springs and Harry Herring, Clifton, were winners in Greene County's contest which made them eligible to enter the state contest. Because of the condition of the corn, much of it being fallen, their average was lowered in the local contest which eliminated them Wednesday.

Albert Laukhuf, Paulding County, was declared state champion. He husked 1,333 pounds of corn and his award was a silver loving cup in addition to a cash prize of $50. He will be entered in the national corn husking contest at Grundy Center, Ia., November 13.

EAST END NEWS

Revival services at St. John's A. M. E. Church are making splendid progress. Miss Jones preached Wednesday night from the subject "Where Are You?" This message was delivered to a full house. Special music was rendered by the First A. M. E. Church choir and by Miss Lowler of Wilberforce University, who will conduct the song service each evening. Thursday night the Edith Randolph prayer band will assist in the service. Friday evening will be young people's service. The attendance is increasing.

The Sunday School Board of St. John's A. M. E. Church will meet next Monday night, Nov. 9, 1931, at the residence of Mrs. Mattie J. Price, 708 E. Church St.

Guy B. Post, Actor Man, Will Play With "Our Ann"

Your correspondent had almost forgotten there was such a person as Guy Bates Post, the old stage actor, until he learned that, after testing a half-dozen Hollywood actors for the part, RKO-Pathé has signed him to play one of the three leads in Ann Harding's new picture, "Prestige."

This will be Post's talkie debut and his first appearance in the films since he made "The Masquerader" several years ago. He is now fulfilling an engagement with the Pasadena Community Players. In the romantic lead opposite Ann Harding will be Melvyn Douglas who went to Hollywood from Broadway to recreate his original role in "Tonight or Never." Because of his appearance with Gloria Swanson and Ann Harding in succeeding pictures, he is much in the Hollywood limelight.

Ian MacLaren is another member of the company. Director Tay Garnett has already started rehearsals and will take the company to Florida on location later.

William Le Baron finally discovered the feminine lead for "The Lost Squadron." Dick Grace's yarn at another studio. Dorothy Jordan has been borrowed from Metro to play opposite Richard Dix in the air film. The other two principals will be Joel McCrea and Eric Linden, both Radio players. This film will cut short Dix's honeymoon.

Ronald Colman's arrangement with Samuel Goldwyn gives him the right to select his last two stories. He hasn't done this in the past. The salary clause also is a flexible one, with the box office reports of his previous pictures regulating the terms.

Clark Gable's salary under his new Metro contract is reliably reported to be $2,000 a week as a starter, with provisions for a liberal increase in the next few years.

Here's one way the producers do things. Eddie Nugent's name was inadvertently omitted from the advertising of "The Star Witness". To make up for it the studio has given him billing in both "Five Star Final" and "Larceny Lane", although Nugent doesn't appear in either of these pictures.

"Chic" Sale, vaudeville star who was the star in "The Star Witness", has been signed by Warners to make a talkie revival of the old silent picture success, "Old Man Minnick".

Wesley Ruggles and Arlene Judge will return to Hollywood from their honeymoon November 15.

SUPREME COURT TO ADMIT WILL CASE; SECOND CASE LOSES

Two law suits that originated in Greene County courts are the basis of opinions handed down by the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday.

Motion for an order directing the Greene County Court of Appeals to certify its record in the case of George D. Oglesbee against W. L. Miller, as executor of the estate of the late Martha Seiver Oglesbee, wife of the plaintiff, was allowed. Appeal had been filed in the supreme court by Oglesbee from a decree of the appellate court favoring the executor. The suit involves the will of Mrs. Oglesbee. The lower courts granted the application of the executor for an order directing Oglesbee of property rights, under terms of the will, on the ground he failed to comply with certain requirements embodied in the will.

Two rulings were given by the supreme court in the suit of The Continental Automobile Mutual Insurance Co. against Thomas Scurry and others. Motion for an order directing the Greene County appellate court to certify its record was overruled, while a motion by the defendant in error to dismiss the petition in error, filed as of right, was sustained.

Judgment of the trial court awarding Scurry, a colored man, $2,500 damages against Hannah and Henry Washington, proprietors of a grocery in Xenia, for injuries sustained when struck by a truck owned by them March 7, 1930, had been affirmed by the appeals court. The insurance company, which had issued a policy to Hannah Washington on the delivery truck, had appealed from the lower court's decision after having previously refused to defend the case, it is said.

GRUBBS SENTENCED TO REFORMATORY

Changing his plea of not guilty to guilty at Dayton Wednesday, Hassell Grubbs, 25, Princeton, Ind., who, with Newell H. Black, 27, Grand Rapids, Mich., allegedly attempted to hold up two special constables of Jefferson Twp., Montgomery County, September 29, during which Black was shot and killed, was sentenced to an indeterminate stay in the Mansfield reformatory.

Black, mortally wounded in an exchange of shots with Constable Robert Bowser, was brought by Grubbs to the home of a relative in Xenia, where he died. Grubbs then returned to his home in Princeton, Ind., where he was apprehended forty-eight hours later and taken to Dayton.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Use Bile Up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

DEFAULT JUDGMENTS ENTERED IN FORECLOSURE TAX ACTIONS

Default judgments in favor of Miss Helen Dodds, former treasurer of Greene County, in twelve suits brought to foreclose on a number of pieces of property, principally situated in Xenia, for non-payment of taxes totalling $2,485.35 on the delinquent list for at least four consecutive years, were granted by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy Wednesday.

The dozen foreclosure actions, filed August 28 in the name of Miss Dodds, then county treasurer, through Prosecutor Marcus McCallister, involve land on which taxes, assessments, penalties and interest have been unpaid, in some cases eight and in one instance, twelve years.
